

Tomatoes are America's #1 choice for vegetable gardening. Picked fresh off the vine, they are full of flavor, nutrients and fun. There are many varieties to choose from and all have something to offer specific to their variety. Here's a list of the choice varieties that we currently grow. Please call to check availability, as not all varieties are always ready at the same time.

Determinate tomato varieties are plants which reach their full size quickly and then bear all their fruit in a fairly short time.

Indeterminate tomato varieties, on the other hand, continue to grow and bear fruit until frost.

Variety	Type	Days	Ripens	Description
Beefsteak	Indeterminate	96	Late season	Large, meaty, deep red fruits. Good sandwich tomato
Big Beef	Indeterminate	73	Early season	Large, great taste. Disease resistant. Good slicer.
Big League	Determinate	47	Very early season	Very large, firm, tasty red fruit. Great for sandwiches and salads.
Candyland Red	Indeterminate	55	Very early season	Very sweet, dime-sized fruit with high yields. Perfect for fresh eating and mixing in salads.
Cherry Cascade	Indeterminate	55	Early season	Prolific, cascades of sweet, juicy, 1 inch red fruit. Perfect for baskets.
Dorothy's Delight	Indeterminate	70	Early season	Medium size red fruit. Heart shaped. Extremely good flavor.
Early Girl	Indeterminate	60	Very early season	Solid tasty medium fruit. Very disease resistant. Great slicer
Fantastico	Determinate	50	Very early season	Super sweet, long clusters of bright red fruit. Great in hanging baskets and containers.
Grape	Indeterminate	62	Early season	Grape-sized red tomato. Great for snacking or salads.
Heirloom Marriage Genuwine	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Large, sweet, flavorful fruit. High yields. Great for fresh eating, slicing, canning and freezing.
Heirloom Marriage Marzineria	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Large, meaty, red roma paste tomato. Perfect for salsas, sauces, cooking, and canning.
Indigo Rose	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Deep purple, 1 - 2oz. fruit. High yields, very high in Vitamin C.
Oregon Spring	Determinate	70	Early season	Meaty, large tasty tomatoes. Great for sauces and eating. Disease resistant.
Patio Tomato	Determinate	70	Early season	Perfect for container gardening. Smooth, firm and flavorful
Rapunzel	Indeterminate	70	Early season	Sweet, bright red cherry tomato. Perfect for salads and fresh eating.
Roma	Determinate	78	Mid season	Plum-shaped Italian fruit. Meaty, not too juicy, few seeds.
Sugar Rush	Indeterminate	53	Very early season	Super sweet, elongated 3/4 inch to 1 inch red fruit. Very productive all season long.
Sunsugar	Indeterminate	62	Early season	Golden-orange cherry tomato. Incredibly sweet. Highly productive.
Sweet Million	Indeterminate	65	Early season	Very high yield plants with bite-size, super sweet fruit.
Willamette	Determinate	75	Mid season	Medium-size, tasty tomato. Developed by Oregon State University.
Yellow Pear	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Sweet, clear yellow, pear-shaped fruit. Produces high yields.

Heirloom Tomato Varieties

Heirloom tomatoes are generally considered to be varieties that have been handed down for many years because of specific, highly valued characteristics. Many gardeners love Heirloom tomatoes because of their distinctive taste, reliability, interesting shapes and colors, as well as their high nutritional value that is lacking in modern supermarket varieties. The varieties are endless, but we have chosen our eight favorites to offer you.

Variety	Type	Days	Ripens	Description
Brandywine	Indeterminate	78	Mid season	Fantastic flavor with a sweet, slightly spicy touch. Squat, lobed fruit are large - up to 7 inches. Best staked.
Cherokee Purple	Indeterminate	72	Mid season	Medium to large size, extremely sweet flavor, dark burgundy to purple skin and flesh. Disease resistant. True tomato flavor. Slicing.
Green Zebra	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Green skin fruits, mottled with light golden streaks. Great taste that is sweet yet spicy.
Japanese Black Trifele	Indeterminate	80	Mid season	Medium-size, pear-shape burgundy fruit with excellent rich flavor. High yielding.
Legend	Determinate	68	Early season	Medium to large red fruit. Sweet flavor. Disease resistant.
Orange Oxheart	Indeterminate	80	Mid season	Orange/yellow, heart-shaped fruit that weighs nearly a pound. Great for sandwiches or sauces.
San Marzano	Indeterminate	70	Early season	Bright red, large, sweet Roma-type. Very productive and high yielding. Great for tomato sauce and paste.
Striped German	Indeterminate	75	Mid season	Large bicolor fruit. Sweet, juicy flavor. Fresh eating and slicing.

Quick Tips on Tomatoes

As the weather warms, it's time to think about planting your tomatoes. Sometimes, they can be a little tricky, so here are a few tips for growing this juicy favorite.

When planting, make sure you don't plant tomatoes in the same soil every year. In your garden rotate them annually. In containers, start with fresh soil every year. Additionally, add lime to your soil. Lime is a great source of calcium, and this helps prevent blossom end rot, which commonly shows up as browning at the base of the tomato. It's also important to be careful how much you fertilize and water your tomatoes. If you water and fertilize too much, you might develop huge, healthy, leafy vines. However, you probably won't develop as many fruits, and the fruit you have will not be as tasty. Don't be afraid to be a little tough on your tomatoes; dramatically decrease watering beginning early July through summer's end. This will encourage them to bear more fruit.